* ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE * * NOTES FOR THE WEEK. *

Audubon Eleven Defeated.

The S. S. C. Rock-a-Chaws, played their second game of football on Sunday, October 9th, 1921, against the fast Audubon Eleven, of New Orleans. The Rock-a-Chaws can boast of being the first team to cross their line in three years. The Audubon line-up is composed of most of the old time prep school stars. They have one of the strongest and fastest fighting machines of the entire South. Practically all of their players have been the stars at one time or other on some winning team.

In the first quarter of the game neither team apparently had the better. They struggled most of the time in mid-field, but in the last four or five minutes of play a pass was completed by Audubon, which gave them the ball on our four-yard line. With their backs to the wall the St. Stanislaus men worked and fought like Trojans to keep the ball from being carried over. Audubon tried two line bucks and was thrown both times for a loss. Reed, the SSC guard being a chief factor in doing this. The next two plays one was a pass and the other an end run both failed. When the ball came into the possession, signals were called to kick out of danger, but owing to a fumble in the backfield the man was tackled behind the goal line before he could kick the ball. This is called a "Safety" and scores two points for the other team. All the rest of the game was a struggle in mid-field both teams occasionally working some brilliant but short end runs.

In the last quarter things looked pretty bad for the SSC bunch, but in the last six minutes of play they rallied and a series of six or eight passes carried the ball thirty yards up the field. They tried line-bucking and lost the ball on downs. However they soon regained it. They tried line-bucking once more but this method of attack failed. On the third, down signals were called for a pass. Keiffer passed the ball twenty yards to Escalona who ran through an open field for forty yards to Escalona who ran through an open field for forty yards and made the only touch down of the game. Wordy kicked goal giving the Rock-a-Chaws seven points and the game.

By far the outstanding star of the game was Walter Reed, the left guard. He was in every line play either getting the man himself or spilling the interference. Many times he threw the Audubon for a loss. In a word he was anywhere along just when he happened most.

Class Rings and Pins.

The graduating class held its second meeting Friday, October 7th, for the purpose of selecting a class ring and pin. Samples were ordered from several houses, as each member of the class had his own idea of what the class ring and pin should be. They hope to come to a definite conclusion, when the samples arrive. As everybody is anxious to get them as soon as possible.

Coincidence?

As the days pass by every pupil become more and more enthusiastic over his school work. When told by the book-keeping teacher that it was very suspicious that every one in the class made the same mistake. One of our Jimmies remarked: "No Brother, it isn't suspicious at all; it was just a little coincidence." Strange coincidence, wasn't it?

Everybody was given some of their intelligence this week as tests were given to all.

BULL'S COLUMN

By FALLEN BELL.

Well, well, and some more.

We treated ourself on the Sabbath what just had her minding to the price of admish to witness the slaughter what was billed to be executed on the campus wherein the fued was going in' to come to a head between the St. Stan Hyenas and the Audubon Squirrels. We, the vs, and the junior of us, got a top seat on the western landscape where they had durin the past week did some erecting of a grandstand—the same erectin' had transpired on the Eastern side, but we called that bleachers for the reason of the sun and the position of that lumiant when a guy has his globe on the field of amateur disturbances. Well, how the so ever, we picked out the softest spot tickable and nestled in our coziness—just a quarters worth, with both globes on the grid and both mitts ready for the encore and a basso—profounds 'bout to explode with excitement.

The doughty warriors got out and faced the other doughty warriors and after both showed their teeth they went at it—Yes sir, I said at it. Some roughhouse bo, Old Silleless wanted to sweat in a possee so bad he couldn't sit quiet—the darning little flappers in the G. S. got to yelling in high C, Kill him! Knock him Out! First thing I knew the darn squirrels had backed the Hyena to the thin ice and the pig-skin went back for 2 pts. (Listen 'pts" don't stand for any anti-Volstead stuff.)

Well that put a crimp in the gang on the G. S. Them Park animals was playin' some game (I found out later that most of it was played where the Ump. couldn't vis it). Handsome Jack got his right globe smoked; Martrimony Sam got one of his 36's in trouble and everybody started sufferin' some.

By that time the Hyenas had their bristles straight up and Old Sile' 'em told 'em to wade to it. Now, gentle reader, when Sile' 'em turns them yarmies loose some fur starts flyin and a few squirrels started makin' a stew. Well, me and the junior, concluded that as there was but a few minutes to play and the chances of a win was so slim, we decided to fella we'd beat it—but Oh, Boy! Lightning come out a clear sky. Cricket Keiffer gets the pig hide, shoots it for a 25 to that speed merchant, Escalona and here he comes 42 yards to the merry. Now I want to tell this cockeyed world that hyena carried twin-Liberty's for about 2 thou. H. P. and he made that touch down so darn fast that then squirts stood bitin' their tongues—a laughin Hyena kicks the goal, the score 7-2—Oh, Boy! BACK TO THE PARK OAKS.

TO BURN OIL FUEL.

Bay Ice, Light and Bottling Works, installing Two Powerful Oil-Burning Engines to Operate Electric Light Plant.

Two giant oil burning engines have arrived in this city, consigned to A. L. Stokoe, proprietor of the Bay Ice, Light & Bottling Works, of this city. One in 100-H. P. and the other 200 H. P., both operated by fuel-oil, and will displace the steam power now used at the plant.

Both of these engines will carry the day load and the other the night service which is technically known as the peak load.

Both of these engines are brand new, their cost are staggering and way up in the thousands, but in time will practically pay for themselves by better and more service and the economy in the saving of coal.

The present space of the plant used as the office will accommodate the new machinery, and a new addition is in course of construction at the plant, of concrete blocks.

In all it is quite an enterprising stroke and Mr. Stokoe is to be congratulated.

The steam boilers will remain intact, and will in a measure, operate the ice plant, but will be kept principally in case of emergency and as a precautionary measure.

Mississippi Revenue Agent Draws First Blood in Battle With Insurance Companies.

Mississippi, famous for numerous legal and political battles, again is in the limelight. Chancellor J. V. Striker has decreed that 139 fire insurance companies formerly operating in that state are subject to penalties aggregating $13,000,000, the court holding that the companies were illegally combined into a trust, case has its only equal in the famous Standard Oil litigation when Judge Kenesaw M. Landis imposed fines against the Standard Oil Company totaling $29,000,000. Judge Landis however, was reversed by Judge Peter Grosscup, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Future litigation in Mississippi's case will be watched with interest. There are many possibilities to the case, among which may be cited: Can Mississippi collect in event of ultimate victory? Would the insurance companies care to re-enter the state in face of defeat in view of the heavy penalties imposed?

Still another interesting phase of the Mississippi insurance cases is the position of the state revenue agent and his attorneys. With victory and collection of the penalties imposed they need never worry about political office. Under the law they are entitled to 20 per cent of the penalties, or the attractive pick-up of approximately $2,600,000.

The case has been bitterly contested from its inception. It has been brought before Governor Russell several times, notably through the petition bearing 40,000 or 50,000 signatures demanding a special session of the legislature to repeal the anti-trust laws of the state. Governor Russell, however, refused the petitioners. He took the position that the companies were guilty of violating a Mississippi law and having done so they should be punished the same as an individual. Heavy stakes are being played for all sides and doubtless the litigation which began last January will continue in the months ahead.

MERCHANTS BANK CONTEST.

Gerald Armstrong and C. W. Ososnack Winners in Mathematical Problem.

During the Hancock County Fair, held in Bay St. Louis last week, the Merchants Bank, Geo. R. Rea, cashier, put out this problem:

If Bienville had deposited $1 with the Merchants Bank at the time he discovered the Gulf Coast, in the Savings Department, at 4 Per Cent, compound interest, how much would it amount to now?

The contest closed Monday night, October 10th, at 12 o'clock, and aroused considerable interest. Men, women, and school children rallied all resources, not so much winning the prize, which was a five-pound box of candy, but as a matter of self-satisfaction.

Gerald Armstrong, residing in Union street, and an advanced pupil at St. Stanislaus College, solved the problem, computing that the Merchants Bank pays the patrons of its savings department 4 per cent semi-annually. The answer is $6045.07.

Mr. Clarence W. Ososnack, of the Bay Mercantile Company, also offered a correct answer, but he computed the interest annually. The answer is $6,539.06. Interest paid semi-annually creates a difference of over five hundred dollars. However, since his answer was correct he received a second prize of box of candy. Mr. Ososnack is a graduate of St. Stanislaus College.

The Merchants Bank problem stimulated considerable interest. It was a clever get-up, good advertising and the public working the problem profited thereby.

GIANT FLYING CRUISER VISITS BAY ST. LOUIS SOON.

Through the foresight of Mayor R. W. Webb, arrangements are being made to have the giant Aeromarine Flying Cruiser, "SANTA MARIA II," visit Bay St. Louis during its flight from Key West to Brownsville, Texas via New Orleans.

The huge flying cruiser is the largest passenger flying boat that ever surger through the air.

The "SANTA MARIA II" has been named after her sister ship which recently arrived in New Orleans completing the most remarkable performance in the history of Commercial Aviation—a continuous demonstration flight of 7,000 miles over American inland waterways.

The "SANTA MARIA II" is to join her sister flying boat in New Orleans and her flight is being undertaken by the Aeromarine Airways, Inc., with the co-operation of the United States Navy for the purpose of showing the public the possibilities of Commercial Aviation and the advantages and safety of travel through the air.

As soon as he heard of the proposed flight from Key West to Brownsville, Mayor Webb entered into communication with the Aeromarine officials and it is hoped that within a few days definite plans can be published, giving the exact date when the boat will be here.

During its stay several exhibition flights will be given so that everyone in the city can see this huge air cruiser in flight.

The "SANTA MARIA II" carries fourteen passengers including crew. Its mammoth wings have a spread of 104 feet and it is equipped with two Liberty motors of 400 H. P. each which sends it through the air at an average speed of 90 to 100 miles an hour.

The passengers travel in enclosed Pullman cabins, finished in mahogany and silver with eleven big comfortable reclining chairs. The forward cabin seats six and the after cabin seating five is furnished as a lounge or club room for writing, card-playing, smoking, etc.

The officials of the Navy department are of the same belief as C. R. Redden, president of the Aeromarine Airways, Inc., that as soon as the public realize the amount of time that can be saved by traveling in these flying boats, all the principal cities on the entire Atlantic Coast will be connected with flying boat service, and that trips that now take hours can be made in as many minutes.

Humanitarian Principles of Liberty.

(By Louis Adrien Block)
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Great God, in Heaven, give me the strength, and the wisdom, to illustrate in writing, and convey to mankind, the wonderful light that shineth in my soul. I feel words can scarcely cope with all the grandeur of its rays, for it is only by the glorious torch of Liberty that we mortals find our true path in life. Whether from an individual or government point of view, it matters not. But the applications of great reasoning, and humanitarian principles of thought, that we gather from the good Maker, are all vital to the people.

The forefathers of our Constitution intended virtue to be our guide, for administering equity and justice in our republic. Politics are merely the implements of its structure. Governmental foundations like gigantic buildings, must be composed of the very best material human ingenuity, in order to guide straight the wondrous illuminated ideas of great principles of brotherhood.

Our country proclaims leadership in thought and action, and we are in splendid faith, and our great men are always in good faith. However, we fail to understand the practical principles of humanitarian birthrights, which is the natural heritage of every American born within our sacred realms of freedom. It is most questionable to proclaim to the world moral ideals and fail to practice charity at home. We must not expect a League of Nations, or international courts of justice, to reign in confidence and respect, unless they are founded upon pillars of concrete facts and universal rights. Wonderful progress and success could be attained by a great Liberty League whose platform would sparkle in truth, and expound all the glorious advantages of fraternalism, before we can ever expect to inspire children with the sublime deeds of the heroes of our Constitution, and impress them with the sincerity of the motives that prompted the declaration of our independence.

Noble principles of humanity forbid us to punish and intern our prisoners, or any class of weaklings, without affording them the proper opportunity of redemption, in educational and moral laws of God and state. We inspire to teach, and spread the folly of warfare, and the sublime good to be gained in council and meditation, still we impose severe avenging punishments upon those that need our assistance, and guidance to make them better men and women in religion and the fields of commerce.

By our present rules of politics, and laws of state, which are unquestionably wrong, we can demand from the mother, her son for protective and warfare purposes, but we make no allowances for the mother and her dependents in time of great distress, and oftentimes they are left to the charitable institutions, or grapple with poverty the best they can which is a most unkindly form of reciprocity to receive from an enlightened government. We cannot shed the light of common-sense paternalism across the water and practice spangulate measures at home. Glass legislation that infringes upon our individual rights, hampers the maintenance of society.

Our indulgence in capital punishment makes a mockery of the fundamental laws of God, (THOU SHALT NOT KILL). It is not consistent with our state of conscience, that we charge others, however legal, to assume the responsibility of taking the life of any mortal, without permitting the law of nature to take its course. In justice to God and mankind, it is far more honorable to demand and compel murderers to restore to society, by hard labor, materials that could be dispensed to the poor. Strictly under government supervision they should serve a full term without recourse to pardon, maintaining discipline and conveying to the world the proof that we do not KILL, as a retaliatory measure, nor do we violate the law of God, and boast of super-judgment in the field of civilization.

A standard form of tariff, for protecting our various industries, is imperative. It should be regulated to terminate forever the constant juggling with our business enterprises every four years, which creates uncertainty and destroys the equilibrium of prosperity. Tariff is not food for crafty demagogues; it is a serious weapon that stabilizes our wonderful resources in conformity with our requirements for surviving in continuous protection and success.

Governments abandon their duty when they leave the great work of Human salvation to the secret societies to accomplish. Competitive clans are fostered among the people who undertake their own protective rights of preservation, and unconsciously create evils of hostility, envy and dissension which are the seeds of destruction, detrimental to the welfare ple would acclaim its glory, for in Fraternal Co-operation are manifested inspirations of confidence.

Taxation, under the principles of equity and justice, is a natural adjustment in conditions as they are, and revenues, prohibitive, allowing for advancement, financial depression. Documents of public trust must be filed and compiled strictly under Government authorization, and private information of individuals must be guarded with severe penalties to those that violate it.

Trade schools should be provided for those in unfortunate circumstances. We should have adequate and thorough protection for Inventors, Authors, Originators, and those of great talents. Severe penalties should be imposed upon those that defraud them, guarding against imposters, and encouraging initiative ability for the good posterity.

Regulative laws for sufficient and proper compensation for the tolling masses, and protective constitutional rights for every individual whether Capital or Labor. Problems in dispute affecting the public acutely, should be settled by the supreme court of a government, and be made irrevocable—an instrument of obedience—thereby safeguarding the public from results of the selfish motives, or infringements upon the rights of others, that may underlie the contestant's claim for justice in strikes and disorders.

A Government should care for all cases of destitution, especially mothers in maternity, cripples, and all varieties of poverty-stricken people. It would eliminate self-destruction upon a wholesale scale, and invoke the blessings of divine providence, restraining many discouraged people from seeking a solution by the route of the grave, for there are many that are too proud to beg, steal, or borrow or admit of their adversities. SALVATION EMANCIPATION can be attained or accomplished for the welfare of humanity by the simple solution of levying a small yearly tax in the form of dues, upon the people, and segregating its function under state supervision, assisting the urgent needy, without the offense of humiliating the receptors. This would be a fulfillment of all the conceptions of FAITH, HOPE and CHARITY. It would be a wonderful service to God and mankind, a beautiful token to our Maker, for the preservation of souls on earth—a duty and pleasure to harvest the fruits of chivalry without contemplations of reward, and extolling the Golden Rule, (Do unto others as you would have them do unto you).

One of the fundamental laws of life is that of exchange, wherein the Government serves the people, and reciprocity follows as a natural result. Mutual exchanges is a proper balance in the scale of justice. Such a seed must be planted if we expect to inspire confidence in the people of a great nation that clamors at all times for Liberty and Justice, whenever the occasion demands we keep pace with the evolutions of progress especially when righteous enlightenments are discovered, our conscience demands in the name of spiritual guidance that we respond to calls of solemn duty in a glorious spirit of unity, for the welfare of all the children of God.

Therefore praise the LORD. If it is thy desire for peace, and tranquillity to abound in the universe, we failed to heed it, for THOU hast given everything, and we have returned but scanty—but we love THEE as THY children should, we are loyal to THY banner of virtue, to the great principles of AMERICAN birthrights, and the blessed mortals of Christianity. We are consecrated to serve THEE, in life or death, for THOU are blessed, and we are sinners deep in repentance, imploring THY forgiveness. The wrongs we have committed shall be rectified, and we promise to obey THY commands implicitly. Whenever the majority of "conscience" reveals THY light, "THINE" shall be done, for it is THY law, that guides us, and nothing supercedes that which is sublime, for it blesses humanity, on its wings of evolution and strews our pathways with happiness and contentment, harmonizing our spirits, with THY love of virtue, which abounds in purity, in THY beautiful glorious Holy Celestial Dome. Oh, Father in heaven, give us the strength and wisdom to love THEE as we should, to appreciate THY wondrous works of beauty, for it was THOU who gave the WORD that made the marvelous births of worlds, a splendor of revelations, dedicated to we mortals, who bow with everlasting gratitude and adoration to our great GOD thing, eternally in our hearts.

Our indulgence in capital punishment makes a mockery of the fundamental laws of God, (THOU SHALT NOT KILL). It is not consistent with our state of conscience, that we charge others, however legal, to assume the responsibility of taking the life of any mortal, without permitting the law of nature to take its course. In justice to God and mankind, it is far more honorable to demand and compel murderers to restore to society, by hard labor, materials that could be dispensed to the poor. Strictly under government supervision they should serve a full term without recourse to pardon, maintaining discipline and conveying to the world the proof that we do not KILL, as a retaliatory measure, nor do we violate the law of God, and boast of super-judgment in the field of civilization.

A standard form of tariff, for protecting our various industries, is imperative. It should be regulated to terminate forever the constant juggling with our business enterprises every four years, which creates uncertainty and destroys the equilibrium of prosperity. Tariff is not food for crafty demagogues; it is a serious weapon that stabilizes our wonderful resources in conformity with our requirements for surviving in continuous protection and success.

Governments abandon their duty when they leave the great work of Human salvation to the secret societies to accomplish. Competitive clans are fostered among the people who undertake their own protective rights of preservation, and unconsciously create evils of hostility, envy and dissension which are the seeds of destruction, detrimental to the welfare

OLIVES GROWN ON SEA COAST.

(From Gulfport Herald.)

J. D. Parker brought to the office of the Herald Saturday afternoon some fine specimens of olives grown on his farm at Wolf River. The tree from which they were taken was planted five or six years ago and is twelve feet high. In all Mr. Parker expects to get half a bushel of olives which he is selling locally. Mr. Parker came to the Coast from Forest, Miss., about two years ago, where he was engaged in the store business. He was attracted to the Coast by the wonderful possibilities which it offers in a farming way. The name of his farm is "Myrtle Grove."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

As the water works in the near future will be transferred to the city I notify all delinquent patrons that they must pay their water rent in full, in advance, as specified on the water bill. The transfer does not concern the water consumer, as the transfer must recognize the paid up legal contracts between myself and the water consumer until their leases expire, and in no case can their water rent be raised until such time. In the meantime, to protect myself I must insist on the payment of the water rent, or close the water, if not paid.

THE HANCOCK COUNTY FAIR.

Hancock County's annual fair has come and gone. We are better for it. It has been an inventory of resources and the endeavors of our people. It is the consensus of public opinion this has been the best fair yet held by the Hancock County Fair Association. This opinion is based on many viewpoints and from several angles. To such an extent that a continuance of the project is assured. The fair this year was possibly not as large as other years, but exhibits were more complete in their scope and comprehensive in every way.

As an agricultural center Hancock County is fast coming to the front if one is to judge from the exhibits. The land of former scene where the pine tree was predominant and stood sentinel over practically the entire county, and later much of it as cut-over land has become to be known as a soil of fertility and productivity. The sweet potato, glynn cane and corn have become king, and it was further evidenced by the comprehensive exhibit presented from the interior of Hancock that anything that will grow elsewhere, will do as well, if not better, here. Intelligent administration by the husbandman of Hancock County has been amply demonstrated by the Hancock County Fair, and should the fair stand for nothing else, and demonstrate nothing else, then in this it has produced much, and the effort has become worthy of all the work entailed thereby.

But the Hancock County Fair has proven more besides. It has demonstrated beyond all kind of doubt that all branches of other endeavor have progressed fast, and Hancock is fast taking its place in the galaxy of those counties which are making Mississippi famous for its rank in agricultural, educational, industrial and economic elements. Progress seems to be the watchword, and no matter how wide-awake our people are they are not satisfied with standing still. They know this would mean going backward.

A parade, including the school children from over the county and city, was the signal and firing gun for the formal opening of the fair. The day was an ideal one. Finer weather has never existed. The boys and girls made a fine showing. The parade was headed by the Macabee Band, of Bay St. Louis, which donated its services to the occasion. During the afternoon, hours, Hon. Weber Wilson, district attorney, of Laurel, Miss., delivered the address of the day, and at night delivered another in the fair building. The restaurant features on the ground were in charge of the ladies of the First Methodist Church, and the hungry and others were served to a thorough satisfaction, thus a perplexing situation every year was handled in a manner to the pleasure of all concerned.

The live stock and poultry exhibits were not as large possibly as other years, but what was there, was all "blue ribbon stuff," as someone knowingly expressed it. The paucity of these exhibits is due to the fact of a lack of permanent facilities or the housing of such exhibits. The Echo hopes the day is not far distant when Hancock County will have a permanent fair building and grounds.

REPRESENTATIVE FLEMING, VISITS THE FAIR.

Accompanied by a Party of Boys From Flat Top Community to the County Seat—Visit Was an Object Lesson.—Paid All Expenses.

Hancock County's representative in the State Legislature, Hon. W. J. Fleming, who resides in the Flat Top District, visited the Hancock County Fair, in Bay St. Louis and remained both days of the fair.

He brought down a party of ten boys at his own expense, under his personal care all the time. He wanted the boys to see the fair and visit the county seat. This was their first visit. He took them to the local banks, the larger stores and they were entertained in a body by Messrs. Edward Bros., local selling agents of the Ford Motor Company, at their handsome new garage. And he wanted them to see a modern and complete printing plant, so they spent an hour with the Echo. Mr. L. K. Kelchum showed them the intricacies of the linotype in operation and its wonderful production, and Mr. J. D. Mollere showed how a two-color piece of printing was turned out on a Miehle press, one of the finest presses in the state of Mississippi. The boys enjoyed all they saw and returned home the wiser for their visit to Bay St. Louis, and needless to say, they will never forget it. The party: Prentiss Lott, Dallas Lott, John Brit Whitfield, Julius Ward Whitfield, Malcomb Whitfield, Jack Lott, August Lott, John Francis Fleming, Rupert Fleming, W. J. Fleming, III, all of Flat Top, and all splendid, wide-awake fellows, material for future presidents of the United States.

The South has three-fifths of the coast line of the country; one quarter of the country's coal reserve; one third of the iron ore reserve and seven-eighths of the forested area.

Who Owns The Railroads?

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company believes that, at this time when the public in general is, more or less, prone to criticize railroad managements for not reducing rates and at the same time effecting great improvements in their service, consideration of the actual ownership of American railroads will be interesting and enlightening.

December 31, 1917, there were of record as stockholders of American railroad companies 647,689 individuals. No figures were available as to the number of bondholders; but Life Insurance Companies held $2,000,000,000 in bonds; Fire and Marine Insurance Companies, $649,000,000; Savings Banks, $847,000,000; Trust Companies and State and National Banks, $685,000,000; Charitable Associations, Colleges and other institutions, $350,000,000. In 1919 official statements of American Life Insurance Companies showed that 26.25% of their assets were invested in railroad bonds.

These figures indicate that, with the number of individual bondholders added to that of the corporations, the total number of the bondholders exceeded that of the stockholders; and that both together could have been fairly estimated at 1,000,000 investors in railroad stocks and bonds.

Investment in railroad securities has increased; and to-day there are, probably, 1,500,000 investors, representing 6,000,000 people who are vitally interested in the success or failure of the railroads.

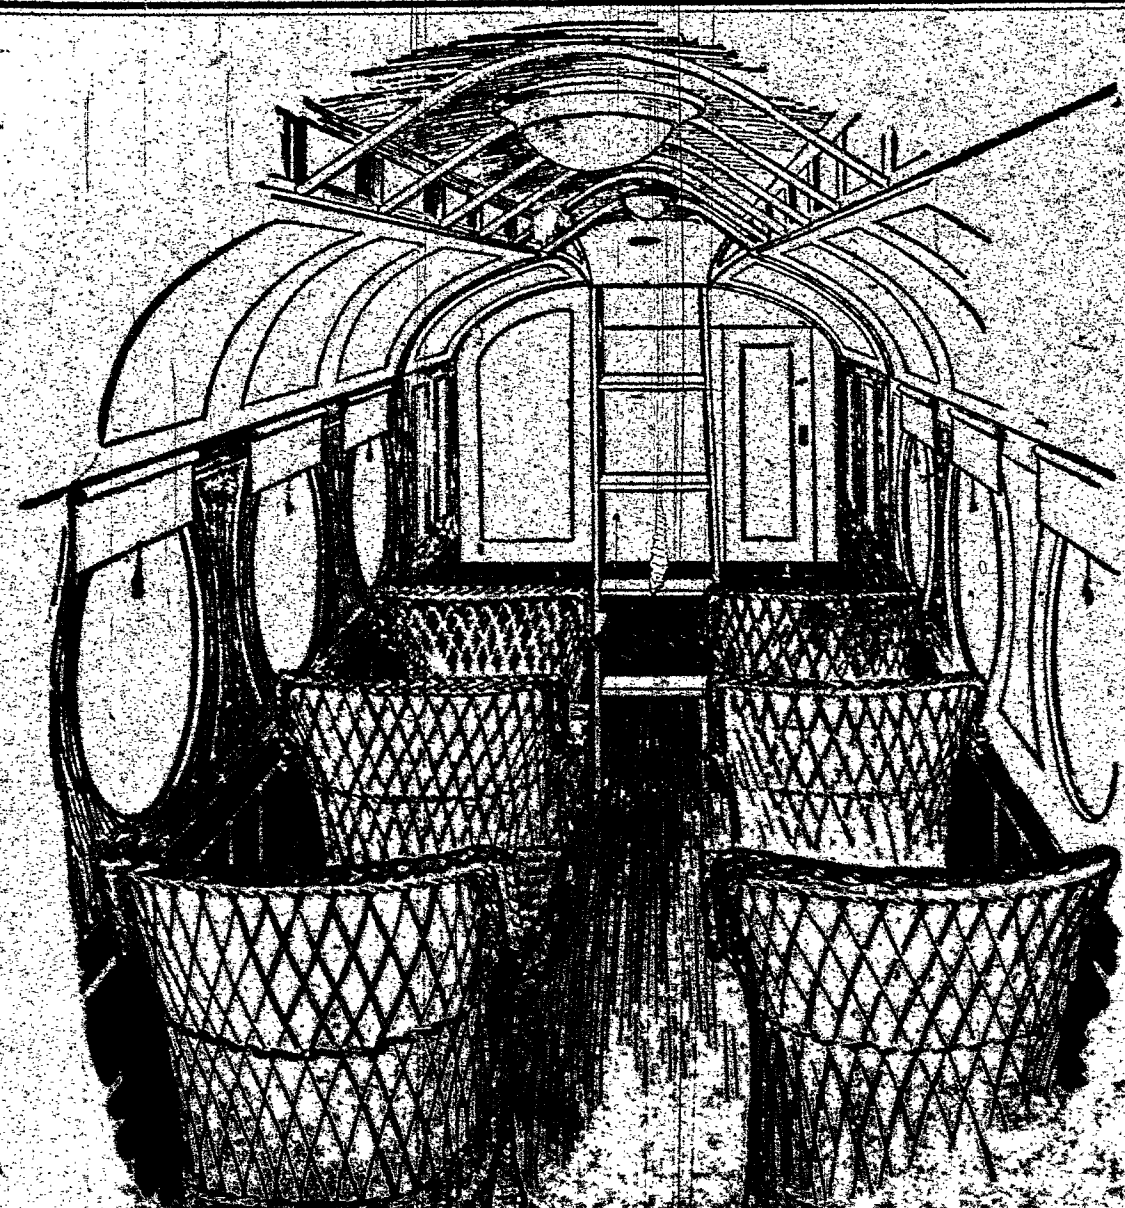

The statement that the railroads are owned and controlled by a few very rich men is not correct and the public impression to this effect, more or less prevalent, is unfounded.

The executives of American railroads are, probably, the custodians of larger public funds than any institutions outside of the banking world, and the successful management of railroad properties concerns a greater number of American families than any other industry.

As to the railroads—they are yours to be fair to you—and to their stockholders and bondholders.

CITY ECHOES.

J. C. Lyons, State sanitary inspector, accompanied by Dr. John A. Mead, county health officer for Hancock, spent yesterday in Bay St. Louis on an official visit. One bakery and one fruit and vegetable establishment were found in unsanitary condition, contrary to orders of 30 days ago to clean up, and affidavits were made against these accordingly and places allowed to be kept open if the condition was corrected by Monday. One market, (no affidavit made) was ordered to correct screening by Monday. Inspector Lyons requests The Echo to state that hereafter no extensions will be granted. Places of business in Bay St. Louis found in unsanitary condition will be closed.

Mrs. G. E. Temple and Mrs. A. Thiery returned home Wednesday night from Brown's Wells, Miss., where they spent two weeks or more in healthful rest and recreation. They report many visitors to the hotel there and their stay was a most delightful one.

Official advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue of The Echo, wherein the City of Bay St. Louis will receive bids on the first Saturday in December for the sale of $35,000.00 work bonds, six per cent serial bonds. Three thousand dollars worth of these bonds will mature each year, two thousand dollars to mature at the end of the given time. This proposed $35,000.00 bond issue is a part of the $92,000.00 voted upon some time ago for municipally-owned waterworks. As a matter of economy and business wisdom bonds will be issued not only in the amount needed, but as needed from time to time. These bonds will bear six per cent interest and are free from taxation. As a financial proposition they should prove attractive.

The many friends of Mr. Alfred J. de Montuzin will learn with interest and pleasure that he is recovering from his illness and is able to get up, and possibly next week will be able to get out. He has been on the sick list the past week, and his cheerful presence and Chesterfield manners have been missed.

Mrs. R. H. Piccaluga and daughter, Miss Bernice Piccaluga, came out from New Orleans yesterday and are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. R. de Montuzin, on the beach front.

Mrs. Otto Sange has sold her home in Carroll avenue, a double frame building, to W. T. O'Brien, connected with the government service in the custom house at New Orleans. Mr. O'Brien and family will take immediate possession. Mrs. Sange has leased a residence in St. John street, one of the attractive new homes built in that street recently.

H. Doize, assistant cashier Citizens Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans, this week purchased from Mrs. Augusta Sanger the Front St. dwelling occupied at present by E. E. Rohrer and family and whose occupancy will continue until spring, when Mr. Doize and family will take active possession.

There are many new comers to Bay St. Louis these days, families who are moving here permanently. Among the latest are Mr. R. T. M.

Mr. Roland Weston, of Logtown, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis this week, visiting at the home of Mr. Leo W. Seal. This is Mr. Weston's first visit here since his accident of some time ago when he broke a leg by falling timber.

Mrs. J. A. Osoinach, of Memphis, Tenn., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Campbell, at Biloxi, accompanied by Master John Osoinach, were visitors to Mr. and Mrs. John Osoinach, Sr., on the beach front during the week.

Mrs. Blanche Avery Ehrman, is here from New Orleans for an indefinite visit to her aunt, Miss Welch and the many friends and acquaintances of her former home town.

Dr. and Mrs. Cassius A. Peacock, of Atlanta, Ga., who have been summering in Bay St. Louis, have decided to live here permanently and have taken the Vonau homestead, opposite the court house. This estimable couple and their interesting children are warmly welcomed.

Messrs. E. J. Gex, as chairman, S. L. Boquet, C. L. Waller, R. L. Genin and E. Van Whitfield left for Jackson Thursday night, in which city they appeared yesterday before the State Tax Commission in protest to the recent raise by that body of Hancock County assessments, namely on timber lands, (excluding timber) 10 per cent and 50 per cent. These gentlemen were appointed as a committee for the purpose by the Board of Supervisors in special session Wednesday, the Board having placed itself on record by resolution as being dissatisfied with the change in assessment thus ordered.

The penny party given by Miss Rita Breath, principal of the R. W. Taylor School, Ward 1, at the residence of her parents on Front St., Friday evening, was a decided success, the sum of $52.00 realized. Miss Breath is enthusiastic over the success of her school and the fund raised will go to paying for improvements, playgrounds, etc., thus not only assisting the city but ameliorating conditions for the children and making the school all the more attractive. The party was well attended. Hon. R. W. Taylor, who, when a member of the city council, made the school possible, and after whom the school was named by the School Board, came all the way from Piquette to be present. Miss Breath is to be congratulated on the success of her school.

Messrs. A. Batistella and R. N. Blaize have formed a co-partnership and on Wednesday purchased the property and business of the Yacht Club Amusement Company, at the head of Washington street, and will conduct the business for their own account in future. For the present they will conduct the business of raw oyster and fish shipments. They have extensive plans for the future, which will be told of later in these columns.

Miss Belle Saucier, the lovely and accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Saucier, left a few days since for Milwaukee, Wis., where she will spend a while and visit her brother, Elmer, who is in the employ of the government at that place.

Hon. R. Brown, of the Kiln, was a business visitor to Bay St. Louis on Thursday, mingling with his many friends and acquaintances at the county seat. Mr. Brown has been quite ill for awhile, but he has recovered and able to be up and out again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Forwood, who have been residents of Bay St. Louis for the past year or more, have decided to make this city their permanent home. Accordingly, Mr. Forwood has purchased the dwelling he has been occupying on the beach front from Charles Sanger, the transfer taking place a few days since. It is indeed pleasing to note the intention of so estimable a couple to reside in our midst permanently.

Dr. A. A. Kergosien, clerk of the courts, was a business visitor to New Orleans Thursday morning, returning home the same evening.

Among prominent visitors from the county to Bay St. Louis Thursday were: Hon. D. R. Weston, president of the Hancock County Fair Association; of Logtown; and Hon. Jno. R. Rester, vice president of the association of Lee Town. These gentlemen were here in official capacity, attending the colored county fair, given under the auspices of the association. Both gentlemen spoke from the rostrum and delivered splendid addresses to the immense gathering.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS LAUNCH PROJECT FOR NEW HOME.

Project Started at Meeting Sunday Night and Given an Impetus That Starts the Ball Rolling in Good Fashion.

Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus are going to build a new home in Bay St. Louis. It is going to be built in the immediate future, and will be an ornament and the effort a credit to Bay St. Louis.

The Knights recently sold their building on the beach front, and the transfer took place a few days ago, the organization is left without a home of its own.

The proposition to build a home was taken up Sunday night at a meeting of Pere LeDuc Council, and after due discussion it was decided to issue bonds in the minimum amount of possibly $10,000, in denominations of $25.00 and $100.00. The proposition took with instant favor and while all of the members of the council were not present, an amount was subscribed and with cash on hand in the building fund that totals $5,000.

It must be stated to the credit of a number of members who were present that a considerable sum was subscribed by members who did not wish any bonds in return, then these same members again subscribed and additionally to an amount in bonds. This spirit tells and builds.

A committee on ways and means was appointed and given out to the press as follows: Jos. O. Mauffray, Chairman; L. A. Block, E. J. Gex, Robt. L. Genin, Chas. G. Moreau, A. Seafide, A. A. Kergosien, H. S. Saucier, A. Batistella, A. Jones, of which committee E. J. Gering is ex-officio member.

This committee held a called meeting Thursday night and accomplished considerably, among which was the drawing up of a letter to be sent out to every member in order that those who were not present at the Sunday meeting of the Council, might become acquainted with the project, and be given an opportunity to subscribe and thus be privileged to contribute their share.

The bonds are very desirable, bearing six per cent interest. The proposed new home will embody many new features. In addition to the hall and auditorium it is proposed to have many club features and a dormitory for visiting members in summer is planned. However, these plans have not as yet been worked out, but in due time will be given out to the press.

The committee on ways and means that have the financing of the project in hand are very enthusiastic, and propose putting the matter thru at the earliest possible time.

COLORED DEPARTMENT OF HANCOCK COUNTY FAIR.

Held in Bay St. Louis, Thursday and Yesterday, a splendid Showing and Attraction. Large Gathering From County and Along Coast.

Possibly two thousand people or more visited the exhibits of the Colored Department of the Hancock County Fair, held in Bay St. Louis, Thursday and yesterday, at the Valena C. Jones High School. The weather was ideal and colored people from all over the county and many from along the sea coast were present, including visitors from New Orleans, and over the State. Many white people were present to view the interesting exhibits and hear the speaking. They had come to see what the colored people are doing along industrial lines and by presence to give an earnest of their encouragement.

The exhibits occupied the two entire floors of the building. On the first floor were the agricultural exhibits, every section of Hancock County represented. On the second floor the work of schools, academic, home and economic science occupied the various booths. In all the exhibits, covering a wide range of variety, were creditable, and speaks well for all concerned.

The executive committee, composed of G. W. Brown, commissioner; W. H. Dennis, Samuel Breard, Walter Benoit, J. W. Winston and J. H. Beaupaire, working under the auspices of the County Fair Association, handled their work with much success.

At noon there was a parade, traversing some of the principal streets of the city, the following was the order of the turn-out and shows its composition:

1. County Banner, School Banner and Color Bearers.
2. Manager of Parade.
3. Grand Marshals.

In the afternoon there were a number of public speakers. Dr. R. Weston, president of the Association of Logtown delivered an address, followed by John R. Rester, vice president, of Lee Town.

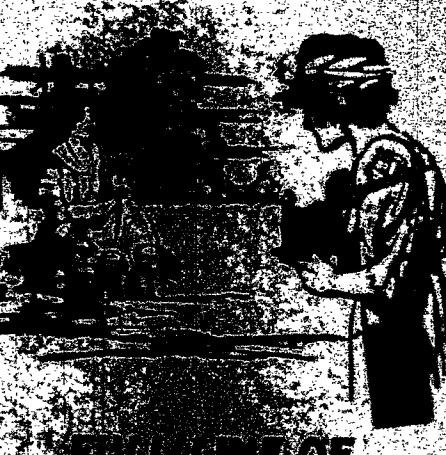

Hon. R. L. Genin, City Attorney, was the orator of the day. He dwelt on the unity of both races, on the success of the colored race as an industrial people, and dwelt on the success of the fair, at the conclusion of which he was liberally applauded.

Commissioner G. W. Brown was master of ceremonies. He introduced the different speakers, and his remarks at various times on the occasion were very appropriate.

Bishop R. E. L. Jones came out from New Orleans for the occasion, and was billed to speak but returning home on an early afternoon train to fill a previous engagement precluded his speaking.

Prof. Burr Hilburn, director of the Gean, Work in Mississippi, was unavoidably detained, however, Prof. B. S. Grosley, assistant director, was present and told of the distribution of the Rosenwald fund for the building of rural school in the State. L. W. BAY KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS.

Recently-elected Officers, Pere LeDuc Council, No. 1522, Installed Sunday Night—Supper Follows at K. of C. Hall.

Members of Pere LeDuc Council, No. 1522, Knights of Columbus, assembled in large number Sunday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall to witness the installation of the recently-elected officers of the Council. John Schenck, State Deputy, of Biloxi and John C. Simpson, district deputy, of Gulfport, conducted the ceremonies.

The officers installed are as follows:

Grand Knight—E. J. Gering.
Deputy Grand Knight—Arthur A. Seafide.
Recording Secretary—Henry G. Capdepone.
Finance Secretary—Henry T. Fayard.

Advocate—Robt. L. Genin.
Treasurer—John Buehler.
Warden—August Schiro.

State Deputy Schenck and District Deputy Simpson both delivered interesting talks on Columbianism, and the former told of the great work launched by the order at its convention recently held at San Francisco, which notable gathering he attended.

Grand Knight Julian Mauffray, of the Gulfport Council, and Deputy Grand Knight Peter Eugna, were among the guests of the evening and delivered addresses appropriate to the occasion.

Supper Follows Meeting.

Following the ceremonies incident to the installation of officers and the closing of the business meeting which followed, a spaghetti supper was served to the members and visiting Knights, one of the finest and most enjoyable spreads yet given by the Council in recent times. It was a splendid feast, excellently carried out, and the committee having the affair in charge, received the unanimous compliment of the Council.

Among the local speakers of the evening were E. J. Gering, Jos. O. Mauffray, Robt. L. Genin, L. A. Block, Emile J. Gex, Revs. Gmelch and Hike. These addresses added largely to the success of the evening. Suitable resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted in compliment to the retiring grand knight, Joseph O. Mauffray, who has served his council time and again, and with signal success, and the success of the Bay St. Louis K. C. organization in Bay St. Louis and Hancock County has been largely due to his indefatigable efforts.

A feature of the evening was the active launching of the project to build a new K. C. Home, and the move was given such momentum as to make it a foregone conclusion.

The story of this appears in another column of The Echo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald are receiving the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends on the occasion of the birth of a son at their home in Main street Thursday afternoon. The little fellow is an unusually fine child. Our esteemed townspeople, Major and Mrs. W. A. McDonald are the grandparents. Before her marriage Mrs. McDonald was Miss Katrina Overall. The Echo wishes to extend its best wishes.

MILK DELIVERED TO CITIES

Figures Announced by Department of Agriculture on Total Cost to Ultimate Consumer.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The total cost of milk delivered to the consumer's door in Columbia, S. C., during the first six months of 1920, ranged from 11.3 cents up to 15.3 cents per quart, if the costs of one company which does business in "certified" milk are omitted, according to the figures recently announced by the United States Department of Agriculture. The cost of the raw milk delivered at the dairy ranged from 8.7 cents to 10 cents per quart. The total cost of operating the dairy plant, including the pasteurizing and bottling of the milk, ranged from 1 cent to 1.4 cents per quart, and the cost of delivering the milk from the dairy to the consumer ranged from 1.61 cents to 3.9 cents per quart.

The item of administrative expense varies widely, being as low as two-tenths of a cent per quart for one small company and as high as 1 cent per quart for a large concern.

Two of the seven companies covered were small concerns which produced their own milk supply. The cost of producing the milk for these companies in 1920 was 8.9 cents per quart, which is very similar to the price paid for milk by the larger concerns.

One of the items of cost which has attracted most attention among students of the milk business is the so-called "bottle loss." The department's study indicates that for the companies covered in Columbia this item ranges from one-tenth to two-tenths of a cent per quart.

Great difficulty was experienced in getting any satisfactory information concerning the shrinkage which takes place in the handling and delivery of milk, but according to the best data available this item amounts to between 2.3 per cent and 5.5 per cent of the total volume of milk.

Columbia is a city of 237,031 population, which is reported to consume about 27,000,000 quarts of milk per annum.

This milk is supplied by over 2,000 producers, from 15 different counties, and is transported to Columbia from a territory having a radius of 80 miles. Conditions appear to be fairly representative of many Middle Western cities.

The investigation covered seven companies, which sold about 16,500,000 quarts of milk and cream in 1920, or approximately 85 per cent of the total quantity consumed. The companies ranged in size from a very small one-wagon concern up to the largest, which operated 40 milk routes.

From the point of view of the farmer or the consumer, the important question is, What does it cost to handle the milk from the farm to the consumer? The cost of raw milk was between 63 per cent and 75 per cent of the total cost of the milk as it reaches the consumer.

During the period under study the retail price of Grade A milk in Columbia, as quoted by the dealers investigated, ranged from 15 cents to 14.5 cents per quart, though during 1920 the two small dealers sold their milk, which comes from tuberculin-tested cows, for 15 cents per quart.

At the same time the wholesale price of milk ranged from 13 cents to 12 1/2 cents.

The average number of customers per route in 1920 ranged from 169 to 207, and the number of quarts per wagon ranged from 173 to 573, the average being 222. It is noteworthy
